

Private 5855 William KEEN
Loyal North Lancashire Regiment

HE whom this scroll commemorates was numbered among those who, at the call of King and Country, left all that was dear to them, endured hardness, faced danger, and finally passed out of the sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom. Let those who come after see to it that his name be not forgotten.

Private 5855 William KEEN

William KEEN was born in Poulton-le-Fylde in 1879, being baptised at Christ Church, Blackpool, on 24 January, 1880, the son of Lucy Keen, who was originally from Oxfordshire. William would shortly afterwards reside with relatives whilst his mother entered a period of service with a family in Preston. Lucy was to marry Anthony Hall in 1888 at St. Luke's, Preston, and they were to have two further sons, Arthur (1890) and Harry (1893).

After schooling and work as a weaver, William joined the Army of the 2nd Battalion Loyal North Lancashire Regiment on 27th August, 1898, at Preston. He was 5'5" in height, 8 ½ stones in weight, of fresh complexion, blue eyes, with brown hair and enlisted under the name of William Hall, the name of his now married mother and two half-brothers.

After training William was despatched to various parts of the Empire including Gibraltar, Malta, where he contracted malaria, and Crete before arriving for service in South Africa. On return to Europe he spent a period of time in Ireland but wherever he went he found himself at odds with his superiors for a number of minor soldierly ill disciplines. His conduct on discharge remained as "very good". William would leave the Army but remain in the Reserve and take up employment as a painter at Dick, Kerr's electric works on Strand Road, Preston.

In 1906 William married Emily Sophia COOKE, initially from Leatherhead in Surry, at St. Thomas's, Preston, and their first son, Albert was to die as an infant. William Jnr. was born in 1910 and he would live to adulthood, having his own family who still reside in the Lancashire area. The family had by now settled in the terraced cottage, 7 Hutton Row, Liverpool Road, Hutton, by the grammar school.

With the outbreak of war William was re-called to the Colours and on 12th August, 1914, was required to swear an oath that he had previously joined the military under the false surname of Hall. It is not believed to have been a malicious intent, just using the same surname as the remainder of the family and one to which he had become accustomed through usage.

On 3rd September, 1914, William arrived in France and would very soon be fighting off a major German advance through Belgium and France leading to the battles of The Marne and The Aisne sometimes referred too as the "retreat from Mons". The Kaiser would describe them as "that contemptible little army" thus giving rise to the early British Expeditionary Force members being known as "The Old Contemptibles". It was not long into these early battles that William was to lose his life on 24th October, 1914, the first casualty from this area. His body was never found and he is remembered at the La Ferte-Sous-Jouarre memorial east of Paris, St. Andrew's Church and at Keen Close off Lindle Lane, Hutton.

William was awarded the Allied Victory Medal, British War Medal and the 1914 Star, affectionally known as 'Pip', 'Squeak' and 'Wilfred' after cartoon characters of the time. He was also granted the bronze bar to the Star, indicating that he had been under enemy fire during that autumn of 1914.

His wife Emily was granted the war pension of fifteen shillings per week (£0.75) for herself and son. She would later marry again but it is not thought that there were further children. She would die in 1966 aged 80. Emily's brother Thomas Cooke from Chapel Lane, and cousin James Wilson of Marsh Lane, Longton, would also perish in the conflict, so this extended family made a very large sacrifice indeed.

No. 3 Medal Record Card for Private 5855 William KEEN (Hall)

The medals awarded to Private 5855 William KEEN

1914 Star

Authorised in April, 1917,

Also known as "Pip"

Awarded to those who served in France or Belgium on the strength of a unit, or service in either of those countries between 5th August and midnight on 22nd/23rd November 1914. The former date is the day after Britain's declaration of war against the Central Powers, and the closing date marks the end of the First Battle of Ypres.

Recipients were officers and men of the pre-war British army, specifically the British Expeditionary Force (B.E.F or the Old Contemptibles), who landed in France soon after the outbreak of the War and who took part in the Retreat from Mons (hence the nickname 'Mons Star'). 365,622 were awarded in total. Recipients of this medal also received the British War Medal and Victory Medal. These three medals were sometimes irreverently referred to as Pip, Squeak and Wilfred. In October, 1919, the King approved and sanctioned the award of the bar to this star to all those who had been 'under fire' in France or Belgium during, between the above dates. It should be noted that there are two categories of recipients (1) those who served the requisite period under fire, and (2) those who served the same period not under fire.

The Bar is of bronze and bears on it "5th Aug – 22nd Nov. 1914" There are small holes on each corner enabling it to be sewn on to the ribbon. Those entitled to the bar wear a small silver rose in the centre of the ribbon when the medal is not worn.

The British War Medal 1914 - 1918

Established on 26th July 1919.

Also known as 'Squeak'.

The silver or bronze medal was awarded to officers and men of the British and Imperial Forces who either entered a theatre of war or entered service overseas between 5th August 1914 and 11th November 1918 inclusive. This was later extended to services in Russia, Siberia and some other areas in 1919 and 1920.

Approximately 6.5 million British War Medals were issued. Approximately 6.4 million of these were the silver versions of this medal. Around 110,000 of a bronze version were issued mainly to Chinese, Maltese and Indian Labour Corps. The front (obv or obverse) of the medal depicts the head of George V. The recipient's service number, rank, name and unit was impressed on the rim.

The Allied Victory Medal

Also known as 'Wilfred'

It was decided that each of the allies should each issue their own bronze victory medal with a similar design, similar equivalent wording and identical ribbon. The British medal was designed by W. McMillan. The front depicts a winged classical figure representing victory.

Approximately 5.7 million victory medals were issued. Interestingly, eligibility for this medal was more restrictive and not everyone who received the British War Medal ('Squeak') also received the Victory Medal ('Wilfred'). However, in general, all recipients of 'Wilfred' also received 'Squeak' and all recipients of 'Pip' also received both 'Squeak' and 'Wilfred'.

The recipient's service number, rank, name and unit was impressed on the rim.

Private Keen was shown on the village casualty lists published in Penwortham St. Mary's Parish Magazine in September, 1916, Page vi, and September, 1917, Page vi, but is not separately referred to in the magazine.

Good afternoon again Bill

Further to our last conversation, I have spoken with Tom Hastewell and appraised him of subsequent matters.

Since we last spoke, I have only this weekend traced two more relatives of fallen soldiers on the memorial and they are granddaughters of William KEEN, the first of the fallen.

Doreen MELLING, 62 Ermine Close, Blackburn, BB2 3UP, telephone 01254-279099, + carer (daughter) and

Barbara INGHAM, 26 Chapel Lane, Longton, PR4 5ER, telephone 01772-613524.

Both have indicated to me that they would wish to attend and will look forward to your official invitation. Tom is aware. Three more cakes please.

Thomas COOKE also on the memorial would be their great uncle as was another on the Longton memorial who also fell, so that extended family surely gave their share to King and Country.
