Location Information: The small village of Louverval is on the north side of the N30, Bapaume to Cambrai road, 13 kilometres north-east of Bapaume and 16 kilometres south-west of Cambrai. The Memorial stands on a terrace in Louverval Military Cemetery, which is situated on the north side of the N30, south of Louverval village. CWGC signposts on the N30 give advance warning of arrival at the Cemetery

Historical Information: The CAMBRAI MEMORIAL commemorates more than 7,000 servicemen of the United Kingdom and South Africa who died in the Battle of Cambrai in November and December 1917 and whose graves are not known. Sir Douglas Haig described the object of the Cambrai operations as the gaining of a 'local success by a sudden attack at a point where the enemy did not expect it' and to some extent they succeeded. The proposed method of assault was new, with no preliminary artillery bombardment. Instead, tanks would be used to break through the German wire, with the infantry following under the cover of smoke barrages. The attack began early in the morning of 20 November 1917 and initial advances were remarkable. However, by 22 November, a halt was called for rest and reorganisation, allowing the Germans to reinforce. From 23 to 28 November, the fighting was concentrated almost entirely around Bournon Wood and by 29 November, it was clear that the Germans were ready for a major counter attack. During the fierce fighting of the next five days, much of the ground gained in the initial days of the attack was lost. For the Allies, the results of the battle were ultimately disappointing but valuable lessons were learnt about new strategies and tactical approaches to fighting. The Germans had also discovered that their fixed lines of defence, no matter how well prepared, were vulnerable. The Cambrai Memorial was designed by H Chalton Bradshaw with sculpture by C S Jagger. The memorial stands on a terrace at one end of LOUVERVAL MILITARY CEMETERY. The chateau at Louverval, was taken by the 56th Australian Infantry Battalion at dawn on 2 April 1917. The hamlet stayed in Allied hands until the 51st (Highland) Division was driven from it on 21 March 1918 during the great German advance, and it was retaken in the following September. Parts of Rows B and C of the cemetery were made between April and December 1917 and in 1927, graves were brought in from Louverval Chateau Cemetery, which had been begun by German troops in March 1918 and used by Commonwealth forces in September and October 1918. The cemetery now contains 124 First World War burials.

Private Scarlett's medal record card awarding him
the Allied Victory and British War Medals

The Allied Victory Medal

Also known as 'Wilfred'

It was decided that each of the allies should each issue their own bronze victory medal with a similar design, similar equivalent wording and identical ribbon.

The British medal was designed by W. McMillan. The front depicts a winged classical figure representing victory.

Approximately 5.7 million victory medals were issued. Interestingly, eligibility for this medal was more restrictive and not everyone who received the British War Medal ('Squeak') also received the Victory Medal ('Wilfred'). However, in general, all recipients of 'Wilfred' also received 'Squeak' and all recipients of 'Pip' also received both 'Squeak' and 'Wilfred'.

The recipient's service number, rank, name and unit was impressed on the rim.

The British War Medal 1914 - 1918

Established on 26th July 1919.

Also known as 'Squeak'.

The silver or bronze medal was awarded to officers and men of the British and Imperial Forces who either entered a theatre of war or entered service overseas between 5th August 1914 and 11th November 1918 inclusive. This was later extended to services in Russia, Siberia and some other areas in 1919 and 1920.

Approximately 6.5 million British War Medals were issued.

Approximately 6.4 million of these were the silver versions of this medal.

Around 110,000 of a bronze version were issued mainly to Chinese, Maltese and Indian Labour Corps. The front (obv or obverse) of the medal depicts the head of George V.

The recipient's service number, rank, name and unit was impressed on the rim.

Private 41851 Thomas Dawson SCARLETT

Thomas SCARLETT was born in the latter part of 1896 in the Longton area and was given his mother's maiden name of Dawson as a second forename.

He was the third child of four born to Harry Scarlett, b. 1868 in Enfield, Blackburn and Sarah Ann Dawson b. 1867 in Ribbleton, Preston. His paternal grandparents were grocers who lived at 8 Hutton Row, Hutton, the terraced houses by the Grammar School. His parents, Harry and Sarah Ann, in the 1911 census, were residing at Mill Brook Cottage, Liverpool Road, Hutton, he being employed as a farm labourer, whilst Thomas was listed as a wheelwright's apprentice. Thomas's education is unknown.

At some stage, Thomas enlisted with the South Staffordshire Regiment, which had been sent to France immediately on the outbreak of hostilities. It is not known when Thomas actually enlisted as his military record has not survived the passage of time. The Regiment was to remain in France for the duration of the war and would be involved in many of the well known battles.

Thomas was killed in action on 1st December, 1917, at the age of 21. His remains were never found and he is remembered at the Cambrai Memorial, Louveral, France, Panel 7. No photograph of Thomas has been traced.

He is also remembered at the family grave at Penwortham St. Mary's where his parents and sister Annie are interred.

Though his elder brother Harry married and had four children all apparently unmarried, sister Annie married Ernest Fenton and younger brother married twice to Alice Kershaw and Ellen Wilding, both without issue, no modern member of the family has yet been traced.
